

Infor Enterprise Application Review

➔ The Enterprise Application Review evaluates your enterprise systems and realigns them with your business objectives.

Do business better. Achieve enterprise goals.

Today, many Infor™ customers use an Infor ERP solution. This business critical ERP system provides the core of the enterprise application environment, and may be integrated with supply chain management (SCM), customer resource management (CRM), and other enterprise applications. At the start of an enterprise implementation, companies will set out their desired business performance metrics. Following the implementation, virtually all companies measure the performance of their production operations in a structured fashion. Businesses may concentrate on quality (minimising waste), the efficiency of equipment, and stocks of both finished goods and raw materials. In addition, the drive to compete on the basis of customer service means focusing on delivery times.

Over the course of time, requirements will change and one finds gaps between the original goals and needs and today's business objectives. Two options are available. One is to continue with the status quo, and accept current performance. The positive approach is to drive more value from your enterprise by examining how Infor solutions could meet current business objectives, and then closing the gap to achieve the desired performance.

Smart. Bridge the gap.

Infor offers an Enterprise Application Review, a service that helps you to identify the gap between the way your organization uses its enterprise application and your goals. The Infor Enterprise Application Review will result in a focused assessment identifying issues and solutions to bridge the gap.

Specific. Getting what you need.

Infor Business Consultants can help your company maximise the value of its enterprise solution investment by providing an efficient and realistic review of the enterprise. During a one-to-two day assessment, we will focus on relevant business processes and capture input from key stakeholders. Utilising our in-depth solution and industry knowledge, we are then able to review your enterprise implementation issues and provide recommendations. We follow a proven methodology:

- Scope definition—Agree on functions/stakeholders/business processes to be included in the Review.
- On-site interviews—Conduct a focussed enterprise assessment via discussions with key stakeholders.
- Review assessment report—The review concludes with a presentation of findings, recommendations, and proposed next steps.

Benefits. Maximise the value of your investment.

The Infor Enterprise Application Review can help your business to:

- Identify your most pressing issues.
- Leverage relevant new functionality.
- Identify solutions to remedy potential functionality gaps.
- Increase user skills to address any training gaps.

Ready. Getting started.
